

Declaration Form for Self-study / Published Work

Continuing Education in Chinese Medicine (CME) for Registered Chinese Medicine Practitioners (CMPs) Guidance Notes for Declaration of Details of Self-Study / Published Work by Registered CMPs

1. Registered CMPs who have, by means of self-study, read and studied literatures, textbooks, journals, theses, research reports or other works in Chinese medicine or studied Chinese medicine through video tapes, CD-ROMs or other teaching materials, may submit to their respective CME Administrators a report of not less than 400 words satisfying the requirements stipulated by the Chinese Medicine Practitioners Board (such report should clearly state the title and number of words to facilitate checking by the CME Administrator) upon completion of their self-study to present the content studied and the knowledge gained. Each report submitted may be awarded 3 CME points. The accumulated CME points through self-study should not exceed the upper limit of 30 points per (three-year) cycle.
2. Subsequent to the submission to the respective CME Administrator of the feature work in Chinese Medicine, such as research report, thesis and feature article, published in local, Mainland or overseas academic books, professional medical journals or publications of Chinese medicine associations with target readers being Chinese medicine practitioners (if the feature work is published in academic books or professional medical journals, a copy of the relevant books, journals or publication should be submitted as well for verification or documentation by the CME Administrator), the author(s) will be awarded a total of 10 CME points, provided that such work satisfies the requirements specified by the Chinese Medicine Practitioners Board. If there are more than one author, the 10 CME points should be allocated equally among the authors. The CME Administrator will acknowledge the CME points allocated to each author according to the negotiation result. However, CME points should not be awarded to authors of work and articles published on non-professional medical books, or magazines, newspapers, and publications (e.g. publication on health, life, beauty, etc.), the target readers of which is the general public. The accumulated CME points through publishing of work should not exceed the upper limit of 30 points per (three-year) cycle.
3. Provision of false or misleading information on CME may result in cancellation of the CME points so awarded by the registered CMP. The registered CMP may also be subjected to disciplinary action of the Practitioners Board.
4. The CME information provided by registered CMPs is for the purpose of enforcing the CME requirements stipulated by the Practitioners Board and provisions of the Chinese Medicine Ordinance (Cap.549 Laws of Hong Kong). The Chinese Medicine Practitioners Board of the Chinese Medicine Council of Hong Kong and the respective CME Administrator of the CMP may take steps to verify the information provided in this declaration form by such means as they consider appropriate.
